To whom it may concern

5 July 2017

I am applying for a management consulting summer intern at Deloitte in Thailand because I would like to develop new skills while on the same time strengthening those I possessed. I would like to utilize the knowledge I have gained so far to make an impact in society.

The reason I want to do this internship in a consulting industry is that I am always passionate on entrepreneurship and various industries such as finance, technology, food, etc. I am also interested in how strategies can influence individual decisions. Consulting gives me the opportunity to involve in myriad of industries through cases from clients. Moreover, this career requires me to be creative, strategic, and analytical, and I am eager to further develop these valuable skills.

Since I am an economics student, I have extensive skills in mathematics, statistics, computer programming and business management. In addition, I am currently doing an internship in Japan as a front-end developer at a Japanese company named Spacee. Even though this job is not directly related to consulting, programming teaches me how to think logically and how to work in teams, skills which are indispensable in consulting.

Deloitte attracted me because it gives the internees the opportunity to work in real projects and create genuine value for clients. At the same time, since it is a prestigious company, there is a great number of professional consultants who can give me valuable advice. Furthermore, Deloitte had a Japanese department which is the best fit for me since I have been living in Japan for two years and a half and I speak fluent Japanese. It is common knowledge that Japan is one of the biggest markets in the world, I believe that what I have seen, learned, and experienced here would be beneficial for the company when it comes to the actual business world.

Regarding the internship duration, since my summer holiday starts from August 12, I would prefer to do the internship for 2 months starting from that time.

Thank you for your consideration. If you need any additional information, please contact me at kamalapirat\_kk@hotmail.com. I am looking forward to the opportunity to work with you.

Sincerely,
